A welcome note from your instructor:
Make handmade paper in UW's professional papermill facility. In this six-week class, you'll learn about some of the plants, equipment and processes that can be used. You'll create unique papers with pulp painting - a way to make colorful images in your paper using colored paper pulps. You'll learn how to create 3-dimensional forms using items like cardboard, fabric and wood. No experience necessary.

Tips for success:
Enjoy learning the ancient yet still relevant craft of papermaking. Understand how to create this basic material that is such a part of our lives, (newspapers, calendars, books, paper towels, etc.) Be prepared to get wet. We have plastic aprons but you'll want sandals (crocs are good) or rain boots for your feet.

Materials Fee: (Fees paid directly to instructor for course materials provided by instructor)
Basic fee: $10 - This covers fibers, pulp paints and stencil materials.

Optional materials for purchase: None
