A welcome note from your instructor:
This is a part 2 to my beginning drawing class. For students that feel comfortable in the fundamentals of drawing, this class will take you further in your understanding and experience with rendering and shading the world around you. We will go further into perspective, anatomy, gestures and accurate sketching to open up more doors to creative expression.

Tips for success:
Talent is only one part of the equation. I know plenty of talented artists who can’t draw well because they lacked the most important ingredient to success – work. A slightly gifted artist who is willing to work will always be more successful than a lazy talented one. Don’t be afraid to practice. In order to be a successful artist you have to make 10,000 mistakes, so get busy and start making them! Let’s do it together.
